The Jeep Grand Cherokee helped define the modern SUV in the 1990s and continues to be a major player in today's hyper-competitive market. The current-generation model was introduced for the 2022 model year, and though it is due for a refresh, it appears we will have to wait for 2026. Jeep offers the current Grand Cherokee with a standard wheelbase and five seats, as the three-row long-wheelbase Grand Cherokee L, and as the 4xe plug-in hybrid (both of which are covered in separate reviews). Other midsize SUVs with off-road proclivities include the Subaru Outback and Toyota 4Runner.What's NewJeep was expected to update the Grand Cherokee for 2025, but it appears we'll have to wait a little longer. Changes for the new model year are limited to its pricing structure, which sees slashed MSRPs across the entire trim range. Lower-end models now cost $1,000 less while the highest trims are $4,000 less expensive. Get the full details on the Grand Cherokee's new pricing in our report.What We ThinkThe Jeep Grand Cherokee boasts superior off-road capability, a comfortable on-road driving experience, and an upscale interior. Most recently redesigned for 2022, the midsize SUV is due for a refresh. To start, its aging V-6 engine needs more power and efficiency. We've criticized the Grand Cherokee's brakes for lacking sharpness and smoothness, and standard driver assistance technology is lacking compared to segment leaders. We expect the 2026 Jeep Grand Cherokee will receive a significant refresh, entailing exterior design updates and new touches inside the cabin. New front and rear fascia designs should be accompanied by restyled lighting accents. Inside the cabin, Jeep could install a larger standard infotainment display. Additionally, Jeep may offer more active safety technology.The last bit of speculation we can make is that Jeep will introduce one or both versions of its Hurricane Twin Turbo engines, which we've praised for smoothness and power delivery in other models within the automaker's lineup. A move like this would go a long way to revitalize the Grand Cherokee, maintaining Jeep's competitiveness until it pads its lineup with more EVs. Until that electrified future becomes a reality, the Grand Cherokee will continue to be an important competitor in the midsize SUV segment.Performance and MPGJeep once again equips the 2025 Grand Cherokee with just one engine: A 3.6-liter naturally aspirated V-6 develops 293 hp and 260 lb-ft of torque. All models receive an eight-speed automatic transmission. Rear-wheel drive is standard and all-wheel drive is available. Jeep offers additional performance equipment for both on- and off-road use including an available rear limited-slip differential, two available transfer cases, and an optional air suspension that can add 2.5 inches of ground clearance for 10.9 inches total. In our testing, a Jeep Grand Cherokee equipped with all-wheel drive accelerated from 0-60 mph in 7.3 seconds. For 2025, fuel economy is rated at 19/26 mpg city/highway by the EPA. Towing capacity maxes out at 6,200 pounds.Jeep Grand Cherokee 4xe: Performance, Range, and ChargingWe cover the Jeep Grand Cherokee 4xe more extensively in its own review, but the plug-in hybrid SUV comes equipped with a more efficient drivetrain than the gasoline-only model's naturally aspirated "Pentastar" V-6. This model comes equipped with a 2.0-liter turbocharged four-cylinder engine, an eight-speed automatic transmission, a motor-generator, a gearbox-integrated electric motor, a 17.3-kWh battery, and all-wheel drive. Total system output is 375 hp and 470 lb-ft of torque. Driving range is rated at 470 miles and the battery pack can be replenished in under 3 hours with a Level 2 charger. Level 1 charging accomplishes that task in 12 hours. An updated model is expected to arrive alongside the 2025 Jeep Grand Cherokee's refresh.Safety Ratings and FeaturesAll of the Jeep Grand Cherokee's features carry over for 2025. The standard suite of active safety features includes lane keeping and lane centering technology, adaptive cruise control, blind-spot monitoring, rear parking sensors, and automatic headlights. Available tech encompasses automatic high-beams, driver attention warning, forward parking sensors, traffic sign recognition, a 360-degree camera, and semi-autonomous parking.Cargo Space and Interior RoomThe 2025 Jeep Grand Cherokee's passenger space lags its rivals. Second-row legroom trails the competition and cargo space sits closer to the middle of the pack.TechnologyJeep equips the Grand Cherokee with an 8.4-inch infotainment touchscreen with wireless Apple CarPlay and Android Auto. Other items on the generous list of standard tech includes a 10.3-inch digital instrument cluster, two-phone Bluetooth compatibility, six speakers, and LED interior lighting. All models receive over-the-air updates. We wouldn't be surprised if Jeep introduced a bigger center display when the 2025 Grand Cherokee arrives.Higher trims add other desirable features. The 2025 Jeep Grand Cherokee Limited can be equipped with a power liftgate, remote engine start, heated front and rear seats, heated steering wheel, and power front passenger's seat. Going up to the Overland trim adds a hands-free liftgate, power-folding side mirrors, rain-sensing wipers, ventilated front seats, and 10-speaker Alpine sound system. Step up to the Grand Cherokee Summit, and Jeep adds a 10.1-inch touchscreen, massaging seats, a passenger-side 10.3-inch display, dual second-row 10.1-inch screens, and a McIntosh 20-speaker premium audio arrangement.Recommended TrimJeep offers the 2025 Grand Cherokee in four trims: Laredo, Limited, Overland, and Summit. The Limited is a strong value, starting just under $45,000. It comes equipped with a standard leatherette interior, heated front- and second-row seats, a heated steering wheel, a 10.1-inch display with wireless Apple CarPlay and Android Auto, a six-speaker audio system with active noise cancellation, remote start, and a height-adjustable power liftgate.Other Midsize SUVs:Honda PassportSubaru OutbackToyota 4RunnerYOU MAY BE ELIGIBLE FOR UP TO AON INTEREST PAID ON A NEW QUALIFYING AUTO LOAN ON THE JEEP GRAND CHEROKEE GAS AND 4XE MODELS!Page 2 Available on the Grand Cherokee L (3-row), the rear-seat monitoring camera helps you keep an eye on kids, pets, and other precious cargo.
