Contact us Simply take the weekly/monthly rent to work out the annual rental income, then divide it by the property's purchase cost and multiply it by 100, so you get a percentage. The 2% rule is a guideline stating that an investment property should generate monthly rent at least 2% of its purchase price. For example, if a property costs $200,000, it should bring in at least $4,000 per month or rent ($200,000 x 0.02 = $4,000) for the 2% rule to be satisfied. Check if the income on the application is monthly or annual. If the application asks for the annual income, follow this form to calculate the annual amount: monthly touchdown payment x 12 months = annual income. For example, if a touch-down payment is $2,000 per month x 12 months = $24,000 for annual income. Effective Gross Income (EGI) is calculated by adding Rental Gross Income, and then subtracting Vacancy and Credit Loss. The components used to calculate EGI are Rental, GP, Other Income, Vacancy and Credit Costs. Rental income or a vacation home counts as taxable Covered California MAGI Income. In recent years, Milwaukee has undergone several development projects.[23] Major additions to the city since the turn of the 21st century include the Wisconsin Center, American Family Field, The Hop streetcar system, an expansion to the Milwaukee Art Museum, Milwaukee Repertory Theater, the Bradley Symphony Center,[24] and Discovery World, as well as major renovations to the UW–Milwaukee Panther Area. Fiserv Forum opened in late 2018, and hosts sporting events and concerts. Milwaukee is rated as a "Sufficiency" city by the Globalization and World Cities Research Network.[25] with a regional GDP of over $102 billion in 2020.[26] Since 1968, Milwaukee has been home to Summerfest, a large music festival.[27] Milwaukee is home to the Fortune 500 companies of Northwestern Mutual, Fiserv, WEC Energy Group, Rockwell Automation, and Harley-Davidson.[28] It is also home to several colleges, including Marquette University, the Medical College of Wisconsin, Milwaukee School of Engineering, and University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee. The city is represented in two of the four major professional sports leagues—the Bucks of the NBA and the Brewers of MLB. Main article: History of Milwaukee

The etymological origin of the name Milwaukee is disputed.[29][30] Wisconsin academic Virgil J. Vogel has said, "the name [...] Milwaukee is not difficult to explain, yet there are a number of conflicting claims made concerning it.[31] One theory says it comes from the Anishinaabemowin/Ojibwe word mino-akking, meaning "good land".[29][32] or words in closely related languages that mean the same.[33] These include the feminine and Potawatomi[31] This was popularized by a line by Alice Wisniewski, commonly find Wayne's Word.[29] Another theory is that it stems from the Menominee language, whose term for "gathering place" is mi-naw-keeke.[29][32] The city of Milwaukee itself is influenced by German immigrants in the 19th century, and it continues to be a center for German-American culture.[22] Specifically becoming well known for its brewing industry.
