At the beginning, it was only a modest castle built by Louis XIII for hunting. However, Louis XIV chose this site to build the palace we know today, a symbol of royal absolutism and the embodiment of French classical art. In the 1670s, Louis XIV had the Grand Apartments of the King and Queen fitted out. The most emblematic achievement of these spaces, places of parade and reception par excellence, remains the Hall of Mirrors designed by Mansart. In the following century, the extensions continued, notably with the construction of the Chapel and the Opera House. The Château now has 63,154 m2 divided into 2,300 rooms. Although the Château lost its vocation as the official seat of power in 1789, in the 19th century it had a new destiny: to become the Museum of the History of France, as desired by Louis-Philippe, who came to the throne in 1830. Many of the rooms in the Château then housed the new collections retracing the great events of French history, which were enriched until the beginning of the 20th century.Opening day(s)From 01 January to 31 March(every year)Every day except Monday09:00 to 17:30From 01 April to 31 Octoberevery year)Every day except Monday09:00 to 18:30From 01 November to 31 Decemberevery year)Every day except Monday09:00 to 17:30LIBELLE LABEL, CHAÎNETourist guides : Michelin guideTourist guidesGeneral informationVisites : Average group visit length (minutes) 90Average individual visit length (minutes) 90Type of cultural patrimony : Historic site and monumentHistorical patrimony : Historic patrimonyChâteauPalacePeriod : Visit : Guided toursEducational visitsThemed tourShop : Restaurants : RestaurantFast foodTakeaway/cooked dishesLIBELLE EQUIPEMENT SERVICESLeisure facilities : Parking : Car parkParkingPay car parkCoach parkingParkingRooms equipped for : Family Reception/drinks receptionSeminar/meetingConventionRooms equipment : Video projectorScreenSpeaker pulpitMicrophoneTableSound engineeringStagePaper boardAir conditioningTranslation cabinRestaurants : Free choice of cateredDining areaRestaurant on siteRestaurant in the close vicinityIndividual tour services : Guided individual tours available permanentlyUnguided individual tours available permanentlyGroup tour services : Guided group tours on requestUnguided group tours available permanentlyInterior facilities : Entertainment : Children's entertainmentTemporary exhibitionEntertainment eveningsActivityShowsConcertTheatreCultural leisure facilities : Equipment : Hire/loan : Audio-guide language(s) : GermanEnglishSpanishFrenchtalitanRussianChineseAudio-guide language(s)Audio-guide language(s)Audio-guide language(s)Audio-guide language(s)AccessibilityAccessibility criteria for people with reduced mobility : Doors >=77 cm wideReserved space 330 cm wide < 100 m from the siteEven flooring with no obstaclesLift (80 x 130 cm) and door >= 77 cmReception desk between 70-80 cm highHeight under table >= 70 cm width >= 77 cmWC + grab handle + adequate space to moveAccessible for self-propelled wheelchairsPossibility of drop-off in front of the siteAccessible for wheelchairs with assistanceAccessible tourism : Accessibility Criteria for Hearing Impairment : Accessibility Criteria for Hearing ImpairmentAccessibility Criteria for Hearing ImpairmentHearing disabilityAccessibility Criteria for Mental Impairment : Accessibility Criteria for Mental ImpairmentMental disabilityAccessibility Criteria for Visually Impaired : Accessibility Criteria for Visually ImpairedVisual disability Loading...
