If you're looking to win a Halloween door decorating contest at school, I've collected some unique and creative ideas that are sure to impress. Check out our favorite door decoration ideas below! 1. Addams Family We Are Family Door: Involve your students by printing off portraits from the Addams family and having them paste their faces onto the prints! Don't forget to add Thing, Cousin It, and some fake cobwebs. 2. Stranger Things Door: Get inspired by a popular show that your students love and decorate the door as one of their favorite characters from Stranger Things. 3. Monster's University Door: Draw inspiration from a movie that your students adore and decorate the door as one of the beloved characters, like Mike Wazowski from Monsters University. 4. Trick or Treat Smell My Feet Door: Create a unique and playful design using clothes lines with clothes pins and Halloween socks. 5. Halloween Night Classroom Door: Replicate this masterpiece by tracing animals and trees on black paper or get creative with your own artistic touch. 6. Haunted Hallway Classroom Door: Design a haunted hallway look by creating old lockers for your class door. These ideas will help you create a memorable Halloween classroom door that your students will love! Creative Halloween Classroom Door Decorations Get imaginative and combine different elements like black paper silhouettes, spiders hanging from webs, and glow-in-the-dark decorations for a unique spooky door. Cotton balls, tissue paper, and disposable gloves filled with candy can also add a fun twist. Check out some more creative classroom door ideas below. Some inspiration comes from Halloween movie favorites like The Nightmare Before Christmas. Other doors feature the Wicked Witch of the West taking a face dive in a cauldron or expand decorations to the ceiling. You could even create your own monster door with large Googly eyes and white streamers. Bring humor to your door with puns and jokes, like a skeleton teacher teaching skeleton students or incorporating Halloween puns. Check out some more fun classroom door decorations below. You can recreate iconic scenes from the movie "Hocus Pocus" on your classroom door by having students help paint characters and elements using paper plates and paint. Or, go for a door idea that says "I Smell Children" with student pictures as bubbles coming out of the spooky witch's brew. For preschoolers, keep it fun and less scary with cute pumpkin faces, smiling ghosts, and friendly black cats. Get students involved with a classroom craft that becomes your door décor. Create engaging classroom door decorations for preschool, kindergarten, primary school, and beyond! Start by having students create little pumpkins or ghosts to decorate the door. For older students, try incorporating foam core and paint for a professional look. Use counting games, alphabet letters, and seasonal twists to promote learning. Add creepy witches, friendly spiders, bats, and cobwebs to create a haunted house design. Repurpose bulletin board kits for unique decorations and include student names on pumpkins. Showcase favorite Halloween movies, books, or characters with foam core and paint. Create puns based on the subject you teach. For a math-themed door, use yellow craft paper, paper bats, and a spooky haunted house. Encourage students to make their own bats that will hang from the door frame! Using construction paper, students can create various Halloween-themed decorations for the classroom door. One idea is to print out book covers and add fake spider webs for a 3D effect. To encourage student participation, incorporate elements like handprint ghosts or footprint pumpkins, allowing them to personalize the door with their creations. For example, students can make little ghosts that have created book summaries about Halloween favorite books. Another way to involve students is by adding cute characters like ghosts with their names on them. Some ideas for DIY decorations include painting footprints in Halloween colors or creating artwork like adorable bats. Some examples of classroom door decorations include a "Read if You Dare" display featuring book summaries, a "This Class is Fab-Boo-Lous" sign with student names, and a "Trick or Treat Smell My Feet" design with painted footprints. Additionally, students can create artwork like bats or add pictures to cute Halloween creatures like ghosts. To complement the decorated door, consider creating a bulletin board using Halloween-themed borders, images, and classroom activities. Some inspiration for bulletin boards includes a "Squad Goals" display featuring a retro theme and an "Enter if You Dare" sign with a spooky touch. For those feeling crafty, consider making DIY decorations like a giant spider created from construction paper and googly eyes or a black cat welcome sign featuring the Wicked Witch of the West. With these ideas, students can get involved in creating a fun and festive Halloween classroom atmosphere. You can create a simple yet effective monster door for your classroom using basic shapes and construction paper. To add a spooky touch, incorporate props like brooms and plastic spiders. Here are some easy ideas to spice up the look of your classroom door: Halloween Mystery: Create a door with a spooky message or riddle for students to solve. Candy Corn Crafts: Decorate the door with candy corn-inspired crafts, such as a hanging paper banner or small handmade candy corns. "Keep Out / Zombie Door" Idea: Use cut-up cardboard to create the look of wooden boards and tape them across the door. Look Who's Hiding in the Haunted House: Design a haunted house from construction paper or fabric and place photos of students peeking out. Plastic Spiders: Scatter plastic spiders across the door or hang them with transparent thread for a creepy-crawly effect. Easy DIY Ideas: Cover your existing door décor in spider webs using a product found on Amazon. Cover your class door in caution tape for a spooky vibe, available on Amazon. Get a cheap skeleton cutout from Amazon or the Dollar store to add a Halloween feel to your classroom.
