Microsoft actively pushes its user base to cloud and subscriptions. But there will always be people hesitant to trust their private data to corporations, especially in this age of loss of private data to the left and right. By releasing Office 2019 - Microsoft has taken another step in this direction and asked to enter a Microsoft account when activating the new Office 2019 purchase. If you do not enter the account - activation will not end, there's no way to skip it in the ui. Although, there's still a way to skip through the console ... Activation: run cmd.exe / powershell with admin privileges, go to "c:\ Program files (x86) \ Microsoft Office \ Office16" and run these commands : cScript ospv.vbs / inkey: XXXX-XXXX-XXXX-XXXX-XXXX cscript osp.vbs / act Replace XXXX-XX ... with the current key. Restart Office programs - and enjoy your genuine and activated Office 2019 completely offline. I guess we can not hope that Microsoft will implement the importance of having an option of their products completely offline, so start (slowly at first) losing users in previous versions of Microsoft and open source alternative products. If it like Onenote - is already time to start looking for open source alternatives. Sorry Microsoft, I'm uploading my notes for you.
