

Continue

Online masters in management and leadership

50% scholarship to students in emerging markets More than ever, organizations in all sectors need versatile leaders with high management acumen. The Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) is designed to deliver mastery in 21st-century leadership and management principles and practices. It prepares leaders to take on additional managerial responsibilities in global organizations or to make a career change across industries or sectors. This management program focuses on cross-cultural communication, finance, data analytics, marketing and working in diverse, global teams. The real-world curriculum combines Thunderbird's prestigious tradition of graduate education with cutting-edge technology to deliver a transformative graduate degree. Designed to empower graduates with well-rounded, future-ready skill sets, this transformational master's degree provides a strategically choreographed progression through every facet of international management. Courses span the gamut of Thunderbird's online offerings, from accounting and data-driven decision-making to global finance and marketing. Students also receive hands-on, experiential learning opportunities in practical, real-world situations through elective courses that allow them to apply their full range of professional skills acquired during their studies, preparing them to lead in all sectors: government, private enterprise, non-governmental organizations and nonprofits. DOWNLOAD BROCHURE Leaders who want to drive growth and proactively respond to social, political, regulatory, and natural forces that impact their business and workplace. Mid-level managers who support and lead teams who are looking to gain advanced skills in leadership in order to achieve a promotion. Functional managers in HR, finance, marketing, supply chain, and operations who want to be more involved in their global business strategy. Professionals from the public and nonprofit sectors who want greater knowledge of global business and leadership development. The Master of Leadership and Management's one-of-a-kind cutting edge curriculum features 30 credit hours and provides students with the flexibility to choose from a variety of instructional courses, as well as applied learning opportunities, including: Thunderbird's Global Challenge Lab, Global Organizational Consulting, and a Global Field Seminar. Course Credits TAM 505 Navigating Global and Regional Business Environments (Offered asynchronously online or one-week in-person in Phoenix) 3 TAM 511 Global Accounting: Managing with Numbers 3 TAM 521 Financial Value Creation for Leaders 3 TAM 530 Data Analytics and Digital Transformation in a Global World 3 TAM 541 Strategy in a Competitive World (Capstone Course) 3 TAM 542 Global Leadership and Personal Development 3 TAM 557 Global Marketing in a Digital Age 3 TAM 582 Communicating and Negotiating in a Dynamic Global World (Core Course) 3 TGM 586 Global Entrepreneurship and Sustainable Business 3 Thunderbird Applied Learning (Choose 1) TAM 589 Global Field Seminar 3 TGM 596 Thunderbird Experiential Practicum (GCL) 3 TGM 507 Global Organizational Consulting 3 TAM 534 Global Venture Creation 3 The MLM program offers a specialization in AI, Analytics, and FinTech Innovation in Business designed to propel your career to new heights. This unique program equips you with the essential skills to harness the power of artificial intelligence, master data-driven decision-making, and drive innovation in the financial technology landscape. Learn from world-class faculty and gain hands-on experience with the latest AI tools and strategies. Whether you're looking to lead a startup, manage a global enterprise, or transform the public sector, our AI specialization prepares you to navigate and shape the future of business. The Master of Leadership and Management prepares leaders to take on additional managerial responsibilities in global organizations or to make a career change across industries or sectors. This management program focuses heavily on cross-cultural communication and working in diverse teams. T-birds work in multinational companies and transnational enterprises in all sectors. The Thunderbird Global Challenge Lab (GCL) program is a capstone course at Thunderbird that engages a team of four to five Master of Leadership & Management (MLM) candidates with a client in an advanced or emerging market. The team spends one week working on the project onsite with their client. Projects are tailored to the business needs of the client and provide sophisticated data and market analysis, strategy recommendations, and practical, effective plans for sustained growth. The Lab offers projects which are truly win-win propositions, creating value for companies and providing a unique, professional learning experience for our students. Scholarships of 50% of the total tuition costs are available for students from emerging economies. There are many different options available to help you finance your graduate education at Thunderbird. More than 96% of Thunderbird students receive financial assistance through loans, scholarships or other awards. Arizona State University's Financial Aid team works with you hand-in-hand to find the financing solutions for your unique situation. Scholarships of 50% of the total tuition costs are available for students from emerging economies. TUITION ESTIMATOR Fees US$8 Application fee (domestic) $70 Application fee (international) $70 Program deposit Not required Program cost $40,000 Our custom-designed degree programs and courses are delivered online by the same award-winning faculty who teach on campus. These eminent professors design the courses using state-of-the-art technology and instructional tools, providing you with a direct connection to the knowledge and expertise of our renowned faculty. The degree awarded is the Master of Leadership and Management. Our diplomas don't specify whether you earn your degree online or in person. Applications are accepted on a rolling basis. Recommended application processing time is 6 weeks. Deadline Dates January start December 15 March start February 20 May start April 30 June start June 10 August start July 31 October start September 20 Learn more about Thunderbird and the admissions process by attending an upcoming virtual information session. Learn more about Thunderbird and the admissions process by attending an upcoming virtual information session. Answer a few brief questions and allow Thunderbird's virtual assistant to find the right program for you. Who should apply for Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program? The Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program at Thunderbird is open to applicants from diverse backgrounds and industries who aim to enhance their leadership and management abilities. Regardless of their functional area or industry, individuals seeking to refine their skills are encouraged to apply for this comprehensive program. How many credits is the Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program? The Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program at Thunderbird requires the completion of 30 credits, consisting of 10 classes, each worth three credits. When is the Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) application deadline? Thunderbird's Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program features rolling deadlines for various start dates as outlined below: January start: Application deadline is December 15. March start: Application deadline is February 20. May start: Application deadline is April 30. June start: Application deadline is June 10. August start: Application deadline is July 31. October start: Application deadline is September 20. What are the requirements for admission to the Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program? Thunderbird's Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program has specific requirements: A resume or CV outlining work experience, official transcripts from all prior undergraduate and graduate institutions confirming completion of a four-year bachelor's degree (to be sent directly to ASU's Graduate Admission Services department), and proof of English proficiency if the applicant did not graduate from an English-speaking university in a native English-speaking country (TOEFL of 80, IELTS of 6.5, Pearson Test of English of 60, Duolingo 105). What is the format for the Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program? The Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) curriculum is delivered 100% online, but also offers in-person opportunities through global field seminars and challenge labs abroad, plus a 4-day on-campus course (TAM505) where students complete approximately 50% of this course. How long is the Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program? Thunderbird's Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program typically spans 12 to 24 months, with the majority of students completing their studies within 16 to 20 months. What is the coursework breakdown for the Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program? Thunderbird's Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program, coursework consists of eight required courses, one elective, and one capstone course. What is Thunderbird's Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program? Thunderbird's Master of Leadership and Management (MLM) program is an immersive educational experience designed to cultivate adept leaders equipped with 21st-century management principles. It prepares individuals to excel in global organizational settings or transition seamlessly across industries by focusing on cross-cultural communication, finance, data analytics, marketing, and collaboration within diverse teams. Integrating Thunderbird's renowned graduate education tradition with cutting-edge technology, the program offers a transformative journey, empowering graduates with comprehensive skill sets necessary to thrive in governmental, private, and nonprofit sectors. Through a diverse curriculum and hands-on elective opportunities, students gain practical insights and leadership prowess to drive impactful change in today's dynamic business landscape. Skills For Your Résumé As part of this program, you will develop a range of valuable skills that employers are looking for. Leadership: Fostered an inclusive and collaborative environment, valuing input from all team members, resulting in increased team cohesion, productivity, and innovative solutions. Management: Demonstrated exceptional ability to identify the needs of others, enabling effective coaching, mentoring, and skill development, leading to professional growth and improved performance. Coordinating: Successfully implemented managerial functions, utilizing planning, organizing, staffing, directing, and controlling strategies. }} id=text-fbe6d58475 class=cmp-text> Leadership: Fostered an inclusive and collaborative environment, valuing input from all team members, resulting in increased team cohesion, productivity, and innovative solutions. Management: Demonstrated exceptional ability to identify the needs of others, enabling effective coaching, mentoring, and skill development, leading to professional growth and improved performance. Coordinating: Successfully implemented managerial functions, utilizing planning, organizing, staffing, directing, and controlling strategies. Communications: Utilized persuasive and effective communication techniques to guide outcomes, facilitating successful negotiations and driving positive results in various projects and initiatives. Performance Management: Implemented comprehensive systems for managing, evaluating, and influencing work performance and employee engagement. Planning: Conducted rigorous assessments of plans, ensuring their efficiency and effectiveness in achieving specific goals, leading to enhanced performance and goal attainment. Transfer your credits Transfer credits toward your master's degree program at SNHU. If you've taken one course or many, we'll evaluate them for you. Apply for financial aid Fill out the FAFSA to see if you're eligible for grants or work-study. (You could also be offered loans, though you'll have to pay those back later.) Military discounts and credit Earn credits in leadership, technology and more - while taking advantage of an online graduate tuition discount for active-duty service members and spouses. Explore scholarships Getting free money for college - from SNHU or an outside organization - could help you save hundreds or even thousands of dollars. Earn credit for exams and certificates Bring in credits from popular options like CLEP, Sophia Learning, Google and other common credit for prior learning (CPL) experiences. Tuition Reimbursement Learn how you can save money with tuition reimbursement from your employer. Benefit from your employer Receive an online tuition discount if your organization has partnered with SNHU for educational benefits. See if your organization partners with us. Arizona State University's online Master of Leadership and Management prepares leaders to take on additional managerial responsibilities in global organizations or to make a career change across industries. In this interdisciplinary program, you'll gain skills in cross-cultural communication, finance, data analytics and more. Upon graduation, you'll be prepared for a career within many diverse and dynamic business environments.Learn moreQuick facts Next start date: 05/19/2025Total classes: 10Weeks per class: 7.5Total credit hours: 30To reach new levels of success, organizations in all sectors need versatile leaders with high management skills. This graduate program delivers high-level 21st century leadership and management principles across a range of industries. Courses will advance your leadership competencies as a whole and equip you with specialized knowledge at the same time. Upon graduation, you'll have experience in areas such as accounting, consulting, marketing, regional negotiation, data-driven decision making and global communications. With fewer credits than typical MBA programs, students can graduate faster and at a lower cost.Gain leadership skills at home and around the worldThis program allows you to gain leadership skills at home and around the world with unique professional development opportunities. Optional global field seminars in the spring and fall provide you with business knowledge and training, cultural tours and networking. Additionally, optional global challenge labs immerse you in practical consulting scenarios for diverse organizations and industries. Upon graduation, you'll join a distinguished alumni network, including the former CEO of British Petroleum and the current CEO of PepsiCo. As part of this network, you'll have access to Third Connect, offering you mentorship, events and career opportunities.Develop your skills in AI, data-driven decision-making and fintech innovationBe prepared to lead in the era of digital transformation. Starting in spring 2025, you can tailor your MLM studies with a three-course specialization: AI, analytics and fintech innovation in business.Whether you're looking to lead a startup, manage a global enterprise, or transform the public sector, these new courses will prepare you to navigate and shape the future of business through hands-on experience with AI tools and strategies:Analytics and Machine Learning in Global BusinessAI, Chip Strategy and the Future of WorkNavigating Global Fintech InnovationsMade up of eight core courses, an applied learning project and a capstone, the curriculum explores topics of interest and the fundamentals of leadership. This program also offers a specialization if you're interested in AI, analytics and fintech innovations. You'll complete three courses to obtain this specialization:AI, Chip Strategy and the Future of WorkAnalytics and Machine Learning in Global Business.Navigating Global Fintech Innovations.This graduate program teaches you how to manage global projects, open subsidiaries in foreign locations and advance business in multinational companies. Potential career paths upon graduating include, but aren't limited to:Applicants for the Master of Leadership and Management program must fulfill the graduate college requirements and submit the graduate program application by the application deadline.All applicants must submit:An up-to-date resume.Official transcripts from previous undergraduate and graduate schools.Transfer credits, if applicable. If you did not graduate from an English-speaking university in an English-speaking country, you'll need to submit proof of English proficiency via the TOEFL, IELTS, Pearson test of English or Duolingo.Please note that you do not need to submit letters of recommendation, test scores or a personal statement to be considered for this program.ASU is a global university committed to innovation, research and high-quality academic programs. Our university is recognized with peer-reviewed honors from U.S. News & World Report and receives accolades from other prestigious organizations.master's in management, according to Times Higher Education/Wall Street Journal.in innovation for 10 consecutive years, ahead of Stanford and MIT.best online bachelor's programs.best global universities. Skip to content Every organization needs strong leaders at the helm. Are you ready to take on the challenge? Management jobs are expected to grow 8 percent over the next several years, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. A master's degree in management will provide a strong foundation for your professional future. In the Management Master's Degree Program, you will: Study the core elements of management, including accounting, organizational behavior, economic theory, finance, marketing, and strategy. Develop an advanced understanding of leadership, corporate responsibility, digital marketing, and business communications, including mediation and negotiation. Gain insight into the latest management theories and practices through case studies, group projects, and active learning experiences. Customizable path, stackable certificates, & experiential learning Instructors who are academics and industry professionals at the top of their fields Personalized academic & career advising Entrepreneurial opportunities through the Harvard Innovation Labs Paid research options Harvard Alumni Association membership upon graduation Our curriculum is flexible in pace and customizable by design. You can study part time, choosing courses that fit your schedule and align with your career goals. In the program, you'll experience the convenience of online learning and the immersive benefits of learning in person. As you work your way through the program's core courses, you'll deepen your knowledge of essential management concepts, tools, and strategies. Then, you'll build on that foundation by selecting elective courses to tailor your experience, focusing on the areas that are most important to you. Synchronous and asynchronous options are available, in the fall, spring, January, and summer terms. Sample Courses: Microeconomic Theory Managerial Accounting Organizational Behavior Applied Corporate Responsibility Marketing Management Strategic Management Join faculty and peers in person at Harvard, for 2 weekend courses in the fall or spring or a 3-week summer course. Sample Weekend Courses: Emotional Intelligence for Impact Optimizing Leadership: Applied Strategies Investing in Real Estate The path to your degree begins before you apply to the program. You first register for and complete 3 degree courses, earning at least a B in each. These foundational courses are investments in your studies. They count toward your degree and help ensure success in the program. As an alternative, you may choose to earn one of the following credentials as part of your admissions path: HBS Online CORe Admissions Pathway or the MITx MicroMasters® Program Pathway. Upcoming Terms: Summer 2025 & Fall 2025 You can enroll in your first admission course this summer or fall. Course registration opens March 3 for summer and in mid-July for fall. To get started, explore degree requirements, confirm your initial eligibility, and learn more about our unique "earn your way in" admissions process. Explore Admissions & Degree Requirements Join a network of talented peers who are committed to building innovative, creative, and diverse workplaces. Averaging 12 years of work experience, our management students are established professionals looking to deepen their expertise, discover new tools and strategies, and expand their networks. In the Management Master's Degree Program, you'll learn alongside career-driven leaders from around the world who bring diverse knowledge and points of view into class discussions and projects. Download: Management Master's Degree Fact Sheet 36 Average Age 1-2 Courses Taken Each Semester 90% Work Full Time 98% Would Recommend the Program 76% Professional Experience in the Field Most Pursued for Career Advancement Our management graduates work in a range of industries, including banking, consumer goods, financial services, energy, nonprofit management, and management consulting. They have also gone on to pursue further studies at such schools as Columbia University, Georgetown University, and Harvard Kennedy School. Roles held by recent graduates include: Account Director Director of Asset Management Brand Manager Business Development Director Senior R&D Manager Director of Diversity and Inclusion Senior Manager, Data and Analytics Alumni work at a variety of organizations, including: Accenture Apple Cisco Ernst & Young Fannie Mae Intel Pearson World Economic Forum Career Advising and Mentorship Whatever your career goals, we're here to support you. Harvard's Mignone Center for Career Success offers career advising, employment opportunities, Harvard alumni mentor connections, and career fairs like the annual Business and Consulting Fair and Harvard Startup Career Fair. Your Harvard University Degree Upon successful completion of the required curriculum, you will receive a Master of Liberal Arts (ALM) in Extension Studies, Field: Management. Expand Your Connections: the Harvard Alumni Network As a graduate, you'll become a member of the worldwide Harvard Alumni Association (400,000+ members) and Harvard Extension Alumni Association (29,000+ members). Now, having graduated, all my hard work has paid off -- my company promoted me to an expanded strategic management position. This is not because of a credential on paper, but rather because I show up at work in a new way, applying what I learned at Harvard. Master of Liberal Arts (ALM) in the field of Management, *23, Graduate Certificate in Strategic Management.Affordability is core to our mission. When compared to our continuing education peers, it's a fraction of the cost. Our Tuition (2024-25 rate) $3,340 per course Average Tuition of Peer Institutions $4,330 per course Average Total Cost $40,080 After admission, you may qualify for financial aid. Typically, eligible students receive grant funds to cover a portion of tuition costs each term, in addition to federal financial aid options. Learn more about the cost of attendance. Are you interested in learning more about management graduate degree programs at Harvard Extension School? Hear directly from our program directors, faculty, academic advisors, and alumni about their experiences. Watch Webinar Recording These two master's programs differ primarily in program length, price, cohort structure, and flexibility/accessibility. Our management master's degree program offers many, if not all, of the same topics you would find in a traditional MBA program. However, we require fewer courses, a more flexible curriculum and schedule, as well as a much more affordable price tag. To learn more about the difference from our program director, Laura Wilcox, read Master's in Management vs. MBA? How long does it take to complete the management graduate program? Program length is ordinarily anywhere between 2 and 5 years. It depends on your preferred pace and the number of courses you want to take each semester. For an accelerated journey, we offer year round study, where you can take courses in fall, January, spring, and summer. While we don't require you to register for a certain number of courses each semester, you cannot take longer than 5 years to complete the degree. What skills do you need prior to applying for the management master's degree program? There are no prerequisite skills required for admission to the management program. Most of our students come to us with more than 5 years of professional experience, and 75% have professional experience in management. If you complete the courses for admissions successfully and meet additional eligibility requirements, you will be admitted. What can you do with a master's degree in management? Earning a master's degree in management can prepare you for a range of career opportunities across diverse industries. Some of the common career paths include management consultant, human resource manager, operations manager, financial analyst, and entrepreneur. Arizona State University's online Master of Leadership and Management prepares leaders to take on additional managerial responsibilities in global organizations or to make a career change across industries. In this interdisciplinary program, you'll gain skills in cross-cultural communication, finance, data analytics and more. Upon graduation, you'll be prepared for a career within many diverse and dynamic business environments.Learn moreQuick facts Next start date: 05/19/2025Total classes: 10Weeks per class: 7.5Total credit hours: 30To reach new levels of success, organizations in all sectors need versatile leaders with high management skills. This graduate program delivers high-level 21st century leadership and management principles across a range of industries. Courses will advance your leadership competencies as a whole and equip you with specialized knowledge at the same time. Upon graduation, you'll have experience in areas such as accounting, consulting, marketing, regional negotiation, data-driven decision making and global communications. With fewer credits than typical MBA programs, students can graduate faster and at a lower cost.Gain leadership skills at home and around the worldThis program allows you to gain leadership skills at home and around the world with unique professional development opportunities. Optional global field seminars in the spring and fall provide you with business knowledge and training, cultural tours and networking. Additionally, optional global challenge labs immerse you in practical consulting scenarios for diverse organizations and industries. Upon graduation, you'll join a distinguished alumni network, including the former CEO of British Petroleum and the current CEO of PepsiCo. As part of this network, you'll have access to Tbird Connect, offering you mentorship, events and career opportunities.Develop your skills in AI, data-driven decision-making and fintech innovationBe prepared to lead in the era of digital transformation. Starting in spring 2025, you can tailor your MLM studies with a three-course specialization: AI, analytics and fintech innovation in business.Whether you're looking to lead a startup, manage a global enterprise, or transform the public sector, these new courses will prepare you to navigate and shape the future of business through hands-on experience with AI tools and strategies:Analytics and Machine Learning in Global BusinessAI, Chip Strategy and the Future of WorkNavigating Global Fintech InnovationsMade up of eight core courses, an applied learning project and a capstone, the curriculum explores topics of interest and the fundamentals of leadership. This program also offers a specialization if you're interested in AI, analytics and fintech innovations. You'll complete three courses to obtain this specialization:AI, Chip Strategy and the Future of WorkAnalytics and Machine Learning in Global Business.Navigating Global Fintech Innovations.This graduate program teaches you how to manage global projects, open subsidiaries in foreign locations and advance business in multinational companies. Potential career paths upon graduating include, but aren't limited to:Applicants for the Master of Leadership and Management program must fulfill the graduate college requirements and submit the graduate program application by the application deadline.All applicants must submit:An up-to-date resume.Official transcripts from previous undergraduate and graduate schools.Transfer credits, if applicable. If you did not graduate from an English-speaking university in an English-speaking country, you'll need to submit proof of English proficiency via the TOEFL, IELTS, Pearson test of English or Duolingo.Please note that you do not need to submit letters of recommendation, test scores or a personal statement to be considered for this program.ASU is a global university committed to innovation, research and high-quality academic programs. Our university is recognized with peer-reviewed honors from U.S. News & World Report and receives accolades from other prestigious organizations.master's in management, according to Times Higher Education/Wall Street Journal.in innovation for 10 consecutive years, ahead of Stanford and MIT.best online bachelor's programs.best global universities.