TNM spoke to the 25-year-old rapper, who announced last month that he was quitting music for religious reasons. I was not comfortable with all that. “I have not quit YouTube, I’ll be doing personal vlogs to explore and show people different places,” he adds. “Now, I want to motivate youth and others who are addicted to these bad habits. He shot to fame in less than five years of starting his own YouTube channel, Ruhaan Arshad official, which has 2.36 million followers. Though Ruhaan has given up music, he has now started to do video blogs. He further says that according to his religion, there are many things that are considered haraam, be it drinking, smoking, doing drugs and others. After the release of the song, 2.33 million YouTube users started following his channel ‘Ruhaan Arshad Official’. I started realising that what I was doing is not right according to my religion,” he recalls. If they ask me, I happily oblige for a selfie. Whenever I used to go to college, students from other colleges used to crowd and I wasn’t treated like a regular student. But now, Ruhaan has not only stopped composing music, but is starting to quit music altogether. However, he rejected the offer and says that he has no regrets and will stick to his decision. “I could have become more wealthy and slowly announced that I’m quitting. Ruhaan, who is a college dropout, started focussing on music videos since his Intermediate. His wish is to show Hyderabad and other beautiful places to the rest of the world through his videos. If I could leave behind music, despite the fame and money and what was my childhood passion, others can also try quitting other things that are considered haraam in Islam,” says Ruhaan, revealing his future plans. “I’m not even listening to music anymore. “I was also getting offers from Bollywood and TV shows. Making it clear that he is quitting music and not YouTube, he asked his followers to support him in his decision and help him in deciding the content that is not sinful.
